

Daniel Fullmer, Owner/Operator Terra Vida Farm, Durango, CO

Daniel has a diverse set of work experiences all aimed at making community and environment a better place to live. Natural home construction with Andy Mueller and Green Space Collaborative began the priority of working to create a more livable world. Since then, solar electric installation and education along with greenhouse construction provided avenues for engagement. Now Daniel and his wife Hana own and operate Terra Vida Farm growing a diverse selection of nutrient dense vegetables for families, schools, and restaurants in Durango Colorado. Occasionally Daniel manages to get 'off-farm' and enjoy a mountain bike ride, rock climb, or ice climb in the mountains and desert surrounding the farm.

To learn more about Daniel, please visit www.tierravida.com